Dear Blandine, Bruno

Thank you very much for the revised information sheet, integrating the HREC recommendation.
Thank you also for confirming your agreement to implement the data protection measures recommended by HREC, and for the precisions about how you will minimize the re-identification risks for the dataset.

We take note that the follow-up actions are implemented and confirm that you can start your project.

Regarding the planned end date on the decision, we noticed that you have provided the wrong end date in your HREC application (see screenshot below):

A2 - Project

Project Title	Love in Academia: The Interplay Between Romantic Relationships and Scientific Careers
Acronym	LoveAcademia
GrantsDB number (if available)
Planned starting date	01.03.2025
Planned end date	01.06.2025

We will take note of the new planned end date in our internal HREC records, and we noted the correct end date in a comment on the decision (in attachment).

We wish you all the best for your project and remain available should you need further support regarding ethics compliance during your project.

Kind regards,

Gaia

Subject: Application HREC000607: DECISION - EPFL SCR0971988

Dear Gaia,

Thank you for providing the HREC decision regarding our project. We have noted the required follow-up actions and will address them as follows:

1. Clarification of Email Collection Purpose: The revised information sheet is attached to this email in order to clearly state the purpose of collecting participants' email addresses and inform them accordingly. Changes are highlighted in yellow.
2. Data Protection Measures:
    - We will ensure that email addresses are stored separately from usernames/IDs.
    - To anonymize the dataset for publication and minimize re-identification risks, we will create broader categories (Junior, Intermediate/Mid-level, Senior/Lead scientists) to avoid identification of people holding a particular position (e.g., dean). The same logic will be applied to individuals with unique countries of birth and/or residence (country will be transformed to continent). This measure will be implemented whenever needed (e.g., for sexual minorities, participants with a high number of children, etc.). Suppression of data will be avoided initially, but if necessary, we will proceed with it.

Also, please note that there is a mistake in the end date of this project. The correct HREC approval validity should be until June 1, 2026 (not 2025).

Thank you for your guidance and support. Please let us know if you need any further information.

Kind regards,

Blandine Ribotta
